

John Kokesh, MD

Department of Otolaryngology, Alaska Native Medical Center
4315 Diplomacy Drive, Anchorage, AK 99508
907-729-1416 email: jkokesh@anthc.org

---

John Kokesh, MD is Medical Director of the Department of Otolaryngology at the Alaska Native Medical center where has has worked for the past 15 years. The department consists of 9 physicians and provide comprehensive Otolaryngology care for approximately 150,000 Native Alaskan and Federal beneficiaries. Dr. Kokesh has worked closely with the Alaska Federal Health Care Access Network (AFHCAN) telemedicine project since its inception in 1998. His focus with AFHCAN has been in developing clinical applications, clinical outcomes research, education and business processes for store and forward telemedicine. Dr. Kokesh has authored papers and presented both nationally and internationally on the Alaska telemedicine experience. He received his M.D. degree, residency training and head and neck oncology fellowship training at the University of Washington. He holds clinical faculty appointments at the University of Washington, Loyola University of Chicago and Central Michigan University. He is a fellow of the American Board of Otolaryngology.